

Community Code of Conduct

We're delighted to have you as a community member representing Myria. We're committed to helping you grow as you help us to grow. Vitaly, we have a few guidelines that we ask every new community member to respect and abide by so that we can continue building a community that supports the following five guiding principles:

- Promote inclusivity: We are a global, remote-first Web3 company with people from all cultures and walks of life. We ask that everyone representing Myria respects any human differences in the same way they do similarities.
- Own it: We will always support you in your role as a community member, and as part of that role we ask that you take ownership of projects and treat them as your own, promoting dialogue, discussion, ideas, and innovation. Above all, we want you to be instrumental in building positive and inclusive communities.
- A community-first approach: Growth of the Myria community is the result of the combined effort of many thousands of individuals. We prize our players, partners, staff members and community members above all things and believe that mutual assistance and respect are the quickest ways to elevate the adoption of Web3 and blockchain technology.
- Expression and creativity are at our core: At Myria, we believe that iteration leads to perfection. This means we prepare creatively, collaboratively, and on a realistic timeline to deliver results that make the Myria community happy. You can never share your ideas too soon. Somebody will always be there to help you make them bigger and better.
- Simplicity rules: We understand that many people find the underlying concepts of blockchain and Web3 overwhelming. It's new technology, so this is expected. Strive to take difficult concepts and simplify them for people so they understand, grow in knowledge and confidence, and feel included.

Building a better understanding of Web3

To build a better Web3, control our data, create a responsible data economy, and benefit from the complete digital experience, we rely on our community members to absorb and activate our inclusive and exploratory culture confidently.

Community members play a huge role in our ecosystem and are forward-facing, meaning their communities look to them for critical knowledge and insights. Below are Myria's guiding principles to help all community members perform their roles in an exemplary fashion.

1. Put the user first: We take a user-centric approach. Ultimately, if the community isn't happy, there's something we need to fix. Feedback is vital.
2. Be an explorer: Have an open and active mind, feel comfortable when faced with ambiguity and bring your greatest innovative ideas to the people around you.
3. Thrive together: We do our best work together. This is one of our mantras.
4. Deliver excellence: Myria aims to be the best in class when it comes to Web3 gaming. Always strive to do the best you can. And whenever you're stuck, reach out.
5. Long-term thinking: Moving fast and being tactical is great, but nothing trumps a well-considered plan that plays out well.

In light of the above, this social code should infuse all your work and help you to focus on keeping social media channels tidy and well-positioned to deliver maximum positive exposure for Myria and the games and NFT collections built using its L2 technology.

Other key guidelines for community members

Share your knowledge and ideas and always aim to improve the level of discussion

- Show respect for the topics discussed and the individuals involved, even if you don't agree with them.
- Share your values and introduce fresh, constructive ideas.
- Engage in constructive dialogue and communication.

- Feel free to distribute any material that relates to the community and your work as community members and foster positive conversations.
- Talk about Myria's network as if it was your creation to generate buzz and stimulate conversation.
- Creativity never gets personal. Encourage everyone to focus on and talk about the ideas, not the people who have them.

Never bully or harass anyone

Myria takes a zero-tolerance approach to bullying and harassment and has policies to clarify what this means:

Bullying and harassment include repetitive use of verbal, physical, or social behavior with the intent to cause physical, social, or psychological harm. It is an ongoing and deliberate abuse of power.

Types of bullying and harassment include intimidation, stalking, trolling, and persistent conversation disruption. They also include inappropriate verbal comments about gender, age, sexual orientation, handicap, physical appearance, body size, race, and religion.

Cyberbullying and cyber-harassment are behaviors that involve the use of digital technology, such as hardware and software via social media to do these things.

Specifically, Myria takes a zero-tolerance approach to all of the following

- Any harassment or bullying towards any user in your interactions.
- Harassment and bullying of administrators, moderators, or community members.
- Ad hominem assaults, name-calling, addressing the tone of a post rather than its actual content.
- Posting any content deemed rude, abusive, or hate speech.
- Posting any explicit or vulgar content.
- Impersonating somebody, harassing them, or revealing their personal information are prohibited.
- Damaging the platforms used by posting spam or another way.
- Verbal insults based on someone's gender, age, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, or religion; intentional intimidation; stalking; persistent conversation disruption
- Threatening or offensive posts, emails, texts, photos, or videos
- Excluding people online on purpose
- Scurrilous rumors or gossip
- Imitating others online or using their log-in
- Posting personal data, such as name, address, phone number, and social media accounts, of another community member or Community member
- Republishing data that has been erased or removed.
- Unsafe language, links, and images for family and friends

What happens if Myria's community members are subjected to any of the points listed above?

Zero tolerance for any form of abuse to community members means just that. Any representative of Myria who does any of those things listed above will be removed from all social networks and the community, and all ties with Myria will be severed.
